

“Legacy Language”

Part 1

Dedication Prayer

This past weekend Pastor Ken continued to celebrate the history of our church with our series, Legacy Language. Did you know that our church family has been here for 54 years? That’s 2,808 weekends of sermons preached! In all of the words that have been said in all of those sermons, there have been a few key phrases that have shaped who we are as a church family- our legacy language. Over these weeks, we invite you to journey with someone at work, your family, or find a place to do it alone or with a friend. Let’s explore together some of these phrases during this series.

Lord, help us to care about people no one else is caring for, help us to hear the cry no one else hearing, and help us to see the hurt no one else is noticing.

1. This is from the prayer that Pastor Kenny Foreman offered to God when we dedicated the building.
2. Begin by reading Matthew 25:35-40 together.
3. As you make your way through the day, ask God to help you to hear the cries at home, at work, the store, the gym, or at school.
4. Last week we listened to one of Pastor Kenny Foreman’s classic sermons called “In the Eye of the Storm”. His famous phrase was “Who can say it’s a bad day until all the days have been added up”.
5. He spoke of how you can respond to the storms in your life in one of three ways. You can resent it, endure it, or allow it to take you to a better place. Is there some difficulty that you are going through that you need to allow it make you a better person instead of a bitter person?
